Solomon Dwiggin & Freer Welcomes Associate Cassandra Ramey

LAS VEGAS – (Sept. 10, 2018) – Solomon Dwiggin & Freer, Ltd., a leading Nevada law firm primarily practicing in trust and estate law, announced today Cassandra M. Ramey has joined the firm as an associate. Ramey will focus her practice in probate and trust litigation, civil litigation, and business and commercial litigation.

“Cassandra has the law experience our firm needs to represent clients in a number of contested litigation matters, including testamentary and contractual capacity, undue influence, fraud, duress, and breach of fiduciary duties,” said Mark A. Solomon, firm managing partner. “We are eager to welcome her to our team as she will focus on serving clients who are local heirs, beneficiaries, trustees and personal representatives.”

Before joining Solomon Dwiggin & Freer, Ramey held the role of law clerk on behalf of Honorable Elizabeth G. Gonzalez at the Eighth Judicial District Court in Las Vegas. There she conducted research and drafted memoranda on civil cases and complex commercial litigation cases, and assisted Judge Gonzalez with administrative duties related to her position as Chief Judge. Ramey served as a legal extern for Discovery Commissioner Bonnie Bulla in 2017 with the Judicial District Court and as a judicial extern in 2016 for Honorable Gloria J. Sturman.

Ramey attained a juris doctor degree from University of Nevada, Las Vegas, at the William S. Boyd School of Law in May 2017. While earning her degree, Ramey was part of the junior staff at the Nevada Law Journal and later held the role of symposium editor. She received the Judge Elissa Cadish Award for Outstanding Student Note based on an article she wrote and published on the inheritance rights of posthumously conceived children in Nevada. Ramey held the role of small claims course instructor for the community service program at the William S. Boyd School of Law in 2015.

Ramey received her bachelor’s degree with honors in political science from California Baptist University in Riverside, California. There she was involved in the Concert Band for a year and the New Song Women’s Choir for three years.
